

electronic payment card, said program including security information inherent to said electronic payment card, said program being used when paying said required amount for said product or said service that is received from ~~said supply side~~; and wherein, via said first and second wireless communication units, said electronic wallet and said supply side perform a settlement process that is associated with said payment.

---